THE ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCE WEEK

OCTOBER 6 – OCTOBER 13, 2016

Steve Tyrell and Monteverdi Tuscany are pleased to announce the inspiring Artist-in-Residence week on October 6-13, 2016 in Castiglioncello del Trinoro, Southern Tuscany, Italy.

Every year, Monteverdi invites many accomplished men and women from the world of the performing and visual arts, literature, philosophy and science to stay at the property and share their talents. They perform, lecture, exhibit paintings and sculptures and lead seminars that celebrate the arts and humanities for the enjoyment of our guests. In keeping with this tradition, Steve Tyrell, Grammy Award-winning vocalist and music producer, will perform and share his passion and knowledge with a select group of guests in the performing arts venue that is our 14th Century Romanesque Church of Sant'Andrea in Castiglioncello.

Join us for a unique opportunity to spend a week with Steve Tyrell, enjoy intimate dining experiences, champagne receptions and hear three private concerts featuring this world-class artist. All of these intimate concerts and events take place in the incomparably beautiful setting of Monteverdi, perched above the rolling hills of Tuscany, cloaked in green and golden fields of grain, poppies, sunflowers, vineyards, olive and cypress trees.

Michael L. Cioffi, Chairman and Founder of Monteverdi, noted, “I am delighted to welcome Mr. Tyrell to this special Artist-in-Residence week. He is an outstanding performer and Renaissance man whose vocal stylings and musical arrangements will be a perfect fit for our one-of-a-kind venue. We are thrilled to share Monteverdi Tuscany with Steve and you!”

THE PROGRAM

At Monteverdi Tuscany, we believe that beauty, in any of its forms, enhances our human spirit and educates us on how celebrate and make the most of our lives. Steve Tyrell's music and compositions will invigorate and inspire you. The beauty of his music will recharge your mind, reinvigorate your body and arouse your soul. Our week with Steve Tyrell will consist of the following:

DAY 1 - THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6TH

- Guests arrive and begin to enjoy the beautiful surroundings at Monteverdi Tuscany.
- 5:30 p.m. Wine tasting at the Monteverdi Enoteca. Located on the piazza in Castiglioncello, the Enoteca is Monteverdi's wine bar where guests stop in for lunch and aperitivi. We offer thirty-two spectacular wines by the glass. Each week, leading winemakers in Tuscany host a wine tasting seminar at the Enoteca, where they highlight some of the best wines from the region and the world. These weekly wine tastings are true master classes in wine and the art of wine making.
- Guests can dine at Monteverdi's award-winning restaurant Oreade, or in one of the neighboring towns of Tuscany. Our Executive Chef Giancarla Bodoni leads the kitchen, where her focus is local and organic farm-to-table cooking, a sensibility she brings to Oreade from over 20 years as a chef and restaurateur. Seasonal Tuscan produce, homemade pastas and the freshest meats are brought together to create traditional Tuscan recipes with contemporary presentation.

DAY 2 - FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7TH

- Breakfast featuring a fine array of locally produced pastries, yogurt, cereals and other delicacies, compliments of Monteverdi Tuscany.

Guests have many activities and excursions to choose among:

- On Friday, for the Artist-in Residence Week attendees, Monteverdi is pleased to offer an exclusive day trip to Montalcino. This famous Tuscan hill town is best known for what most wine lovers consider to be Italy's finest red wine: Brunello di Montalcino. Less than an hour from Monteverdi Tuscany, Montalcino is a lovely place to spend a day. The streets of Montalcino are narrow and steep, cascading from the Fortezza, which affords panoramic views of three valleys from the ramparts. Within the walls of the Fortezza is an enoteca where you can try every Brunello by the glass or bottle and judge for yourself. However, do not enjoy too many as your next stop is down to the countryside to visit the vineyards and experience the Brunello terroir as well as learn about the wine from the winemakers themselves.

DAY 4 - SUNDAY, OCTOBER 9TH

Breakfast featuring a fine array of locally produced pastries, yogurt, cereals and other delicacies, compliments of Monteverdi Tuscany.

Guests have many activities and excursions to choose among:

- On Sunday, for the Artist-in Residence Week attendees, Monteverdi is pleased to offer an exclusive day trip to discover some of the amazing art of Tuscany, tucked away in churches, municipal buildings, convents, palazzi and piazze. Tuscany, of course, is the birthplace of the Renaissance, which witnessed the greatest production of art, sculpture, music, science and philosophy in history. The tour will first introduce you to Sarteano, a little town unknown to even the most experienced Italian tourist, but it holds varied artistic treasures from Etruscan tombs and Roman roads, to medieval churches and Renaissance palaces. The first stop is the Museo Civico Archeologico, situated within the sixteenth-century building of Palazzo Gabrielli. Following Sarteano, Città della Pieve is another wonderful hill town striking for its intense terracotta color. A fortress dominates the skyline with its five square towers, while the town center, Piazza del Plebiscito, acts as the town's historical and artistic hub. The Cathedral of Santi Gervasio and Protasio features works by Pietro Perugino, a native artist of the city. The frescoes throughout the cathedral show Perugino's influence, but also that of another great master, Raphael. Last but not least, you visit Orvieto and its Duomo (1290 AD.). The cathedral is famous for its façade which is comprised of mosaic designs and a golden bas-relief depicting stories from the old and new testaments. The true treasures, though, are located in one of the cathedral's two chapels: the Chapel of the Madonna di San Brizio. It is here in the vault and arches of the chapel that Luca Signorelli created the most complex and celebrated frescoes of his career: Preaching of the Antichrist, The Elect in Paradise and The Damned are Taken to Hell, among others. In fact, it was these frescoes that inspired Michelangelo's work in the Sistine Chapel.
- Guests can enjoy a relaxing day in Castiglioncello. The mediaeval hamlet that is home to Monteverdi Tuscany is an ideal place in which to nourish your intellectual curiosity and stimulate your senses. Guests can enjoy activities such as biking, hiking, Spa treatments and massages, or simply a relaxing read in our Library Bar, Enoteca, pool or gardens. Breakfast featuring a fine array of locally produced pastries, yogurt, cereals and other delicacies, compliments of Monteverdi Tuscany.

Guests have many activities and excursions to choose among:

- On Wednesday, for the Artist-in Residence Week attendees, Monteverdi is pleased to offer an exclusive bucolic experience: truffle hunting. There are many different kinds of truffles including the white truffle, which is most commonly found in the Tuscan region. Truffles are the "fruit" of the underground funghi. A Master Truffle Forager and his truffle hunting dogs will accompany you. These hunting dogs are used because of their keen sense of smell and lack of desire to consume the truffles. Your desire on the other hand, will crescendo, as you return to Monteverdi Tuscany for a private cooking lesson incorporating the spoils of the day.

ABOUT MONTEVERDI

The Artist-in-Residence week will be held at the hotel property in Castiglioncello del Trinoro, Southern Tuscany, Italy, known as Monteverdi Tuscany. Situated equidistant between Rome and Florence, Monteverdi is a collection of three exquisitely restored villas and a 12 room boutique hotel. It sits on a hilltop overlooking the classic rolling hills and valleys of Tuscany cloaked in green and golden grain, vineyards, with a collection of olive and cypress trees. In a unique architecture, the rooms and private villas are spread across the small village. One focal building hosts the hotel reception and concierge services, while our four luxury hotel rooms, five signature suites, two collection suites, the Oreade restaurant, the Monteverdi Enoteca, the Library Bar and a private art gallery are scattered across different ancient buildings of Castiglioncello.

To preserve the authenticity of the village and protect the local culture, every building has been carefully renovated following its original design adding modern amenities and luxurious furnishings. The hotel merges seamlessly into the village and no distinction is made between residential properties and Monteverdi Tuscany. A UNESCO world heritage site since 2004, it is one of the few places in the world that has remained unspoiled and essentially unchanged since pre-history. No place in the world impacts the mind, memory and senses more powerfully than this land, this place: Monteverdi Tuscany.

“...this is a place to learn as much as to relax. The feeling is less hotel than tiny hamlet—though an impossibly chic one, even for Tuscany. Contemporary sculptures dot the landscape. The 14th century village church has been rebuilt as a recital hall for performances of the Monteverdi’s annual summer concert series and its Accademia Monteverdiana operatic master classes. An Artists and Scholars in Residence program brings accomplished professionals from the worlds of art, cooking, science and philosophy to exhibit, perform, teach and otherwise enrich the guests...”

“You know those pictures of Tuscany—the ones with the toy trucks chugging up curvy roads, skinny cypress trees punctuating the rolling hills dotted with bales of hay that look planted by a Hollywood set designer? ...The pocket of idyll she’s picturing is the Val d’Orcia region, forty minutes south of Siena, and it’s famous for two very wonderful things: Pecorino and Brunello. In the middle of it all is a hotel your girlfriend’s seen in her head before. Hotel Monteverdi is basically her dream-home Pinterest board come to life: travertine floors, wood-beam ceilings, waterfall showers, plush canopy beds. The alfresco dining area, roofed with vines, is so twinkly, so charming, you’ll want to quit your job and write a screenplay starring Kate Hudson. Or you could rent a private villa (Monteverdi has three) and hire the hotel’s chef to whip up pici al tartufo for two, topped off with Tenuta di Trinoro wine. It’s almost unfair to her, this kind of weapons-grade romance.”

THE NEW YORK TIMES

“The hotel is midway between Rome and Florence--in the heart of Val d’Orcia, the Unesco heritage site that is arguably the prettiest pocket of Tuscany”.

“Monteverdi Tuscany was an amazing location for our family to unite and enjoy our time in Tuscany. The staff was the most hospitable group of men and women, which we were so fortunate each and every day to spend time with them, to witness their talents. The accommodations were comfortable and state-of-the-art while never losing the sense of the architecture of Tuscany. Every morning, we were awakened by a beautiful sunny day that always had a cool gentle breeze to flow in our open windows and energize us for the sightseeing adventures. Monteverdi is rich in history with locations marked throughout the grounds.”

“We have been fortunate to vacation in some incredible locations, eat wonderful food and enjoy excellent service. However, Monteverdi set a new bar for us. Rarely do we want to go back to the same place because we like to gain new experiences...we are definitely going back! Pictures simply don't do the views justice and I cannot describe the excellent, personal service and 5-star food and drink. It is close enough to visit other villages for day trips, but honestly we could have stayed on the property the entire week. Maybe the best testament is our teenagers loved it. They are sure they are getting married there! Typically, at the end of a trip, even after a great time, we are ready to head home. None of us wanted to leave this beautiful village. We met up with other family member and it was the perfect place to be after hitting Florence, Venice and other bigger cities. It was perfect.”

“The charming old-world village where Monteverdi Tuscany is located, Castiglioncello del Trinoro, delivered the romanticized fairy-tale image of Tuscany I've been seeking. Monteverdi overlooks a colorful expanse of valleys and hills and an inactive volcano. From our window and the many terraces, we soaked up the sensational beauty of wild flowers and olive tree orchards abounding the unspoiled hillsides in the distance...”
